40,000 MINERS ARE AWAITING STRIKE ORDERS

Action To Be Taken Today Order Expected Monday

"CHECK-OFF" REASON

Walkout To Affect All Companies Refusing Compliance With This Provision.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 4.—Forty thousand union miners in the Pittsburgh bituminous coal district will be called out on strike next Monday morning if the executive board of District No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, tomorrow acts on the advice of President Robert R. Gibbons. The strike will be confined to the coal companies which have notified Mr. Gibbons that they will no longer observe the "check-off" provision in the union scale.

Mr. Gibbons' position was outlined in a message sent to John L. Lewis, president of United Mine Workers of Aemrica, at Indianapolis, late today, in which he said:

"I have decided to call a meeting of the district executive board tomorrow Friday, November 4, at which time I propose to request the board to issue a general strike order to be effective Monday, November 7, at the properties of all coal companies who refuse to comply with section 26 of our district agreement." The section referred to is that dealing with the 'check-off.' "

President Gibbons in his message to Mr. Lewis quoted in full a letter he received from R. W. Gardiner, commissoner of the Pittsburgh Coal Producers' Association, yesterday, in which Mr. Gardiner notified him that the association would abide by the provisions of the injunction issued by Judge A. B. Anderson, at Indianapolis October 31 against continuance of the "check-off" system.

Mr. Gibbons added that because this broke the working agreement between District No. 5 and the producers' association he would call the executive(committee together and request it to issue the strike order.

Indianapolis, Nov. 4.—In answer to the accusation of Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois miners, that officers of the international union were trying to "pass the buck" on calling a strike, President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers of America, today wired Mr. Farrington that "detailed instruction would be sent him as soon as Illinois operators declare their intention to discontinue the "check-off." It was authoritatively stated that the instructions would contain a strike order.

Six mines were idle in Illinois today, according to reports received at headquarters here, the men not having received here, the men not remain at work, officials said, and it was asserted that they would return to work tomorrow.

Union Services at Trinity Church

Rev. Dr. Robert Browne, pastor of the Methodist Protestant Church, preached to a congregation in Trinity M. E. Church last night that filled the large auditorium. He used as his text, "For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost." It was a powerful sermon, impressively delivered, that carried spiritual truth and conviction to the hearts of Christians and sinners. He made it clear that the object of the coming of the Saviour to the world was to redeem lost men. At the close of the sermon many people knelt at the altar, saint and seeker, expressing a desire for a nearer relation to Christ.

Rev. Dr. Martin conducted the service, assisted by Rev. R. H. Bartlett ,of Baltimore, Md.

Brother Bartlett will preach tonight at 7:30. He has the reputation of being one of the most impressive preachers in the Baltimore Conference.

The combined choirs of Trinity and the M. P. Church will lead the congregation in singing.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Washington, Nov. 4.—The appointment of former Representative Cordell Hull, of Tennessee, as Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is received with universal approval by prominent Democrats not only at the National Capital, but throughout the country as well. During his long service in the House, Mr. Hull, by his ability and statesmanship proved himself a most valuable public servant. His worth and influence were felt in every line of endeavor and he enjoyed the confidence and esteem, not only of his Democratic colleagues, but of Republicans as well. His counsel and advice on all important matters of legislation were eagerly sought.

He is fearless and aggressive and it is known that he will inject spice and action into the work that will soon begin by the Democratic National Committee. Mr. Hull outlined his policy of aggressiveness when he announced that it is not possible to open campaign headquarters a month from election day, and expect to be successful.

Druggists expect to make a net profit of 100 per cent. and more on sales of medicinal beer on physicians' prescriptions, according to reports to the prohibition office here.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes was asked what he could do to prevent excessive prices for beer and he said:

"The law gives us no authority to regulate the prices charged for malt or spirituous liquors. There appears to be nothing that we can do to prevent extortion. We assume that the better class of druggists will not seek to inflict extortion upon the sick, for whom beer may be prescribed."

Government financing operations recently have satisfied Treasury and other fiscal experts that investment rates are nearing the pre-war level in the open money market. Reductions in the rediscount rates of eight of the 12 federal reserve banks, approved by the Federal Reserve Board, officials declared today denoted easier credit conditions prevailing over the United States. The reduction appeared to forecast other cuts in rediscount rates in the near future at some of the other reserve banks.

Credit stringencies in agriculture are being overcome through government advances approved by the War Finance Corporation. This is said by officials to be having a potent effect in making money conditions easier.

According to a report just issued by the U. S. Census Office there were but 97 deaths in the State of Virginia during the year 1920 attributable to automobiles, motor trucks, and commercial motor vehicles. For the year 1919 there were 116 deaths from the same causes. The death rate for 1920 from automobiles in Virginia was but 4.2 per cent. for every 100,000 population and is one of the lowest of any states of the Union.

The administration is beginning to feel considerable embarrassment because of the increasing propaganda being spread by well meaning but misguided individuals and organizations that want the United States to enter upon a program of disarmament. This propaganda is becoming more pronounced as the time approaches for the calling to order of the conference on the limitation of armaments. Several organizations are already at work in Washington and there are indications that when November 11 arrives the capital will be flooded by such agitators. It is expected that the early stages of the conference will attract pacifists of every stripe, intent on obtaining recognition of their policies.

Thirty per cent. of the school population of the United States fails to take advantage of the facilities of the public day schools, it was shown today in a report issued by the U. S. Census Bureau. The bureau defines the school opulation as including persons between 5 and 20 years of age. Approximately 33,000,000 persons are listed in the school population. The number regularly registered in day schools, however, is but slightly in excess of 23,000,000. Commissioner Tigert of the U. S. Bureau of Education is studying this report in connection with reports for the nation on illiteracy.

NAVY CUT PLAN TO BE GIVEN BY U. S. DELEGATES

Main Features of the Proposal Have Been Decided Upon

PLAN IS SINCERE

Other Nations Are Expected To Place Sea Requirements at High Figure.

Washington, Nov. 4.—The policies and program of the American delegation to the Armament Conference are beginning to assume definite outline, and, if the expectations of official Washington are realized, the opening day of the conference will see a sequence of devlopments somethink like this:

Presentation at the outset of a concrete American plan for far reaching reduction of naval armament.

Consideration along with this plan of such troublesome problems of the Far East as may naturally project themselves into the picture.

Meantime an effort by the United States to keep the negotiations in the open, so that public opinion may exert its pressure toward practical accomplishment.

Salient features of the American naval armaments proposal already have been established and, although details remain to be fixed, there is reason to believe the reductions suggested will be sweeping enough to convince the whole world that the United States meant business when it called the powers into conference.

It would cause no surprise if the leading naval powers found it necessary to submit the plan of this government to long and careful study before they determine on their course of action. Should the reductions proposed prove unacceptable, it is believed likely that the American delegates, having once taken the initiative, would invite the other powers to present in their turn some concrete counter-proposal.

All the evidences surrounding the conferences of th American Big Four with their navl advisers have pointed to inclusion of a set of maximum reduction figures in the plan to be laid on the table by this Government. No official has been willing to reveal any details of these figures, but there has been apparent a desire to lay bare at the very outset of the negotiations the full extent to which the United States would be willing to go in scaling down the world's naval armament.

The bonds mature from 1924 to 1956, in varying amounts. The purchasers report most of the lot sold on the first day they were offered. Brokers shelves are almost bare of good municipals and the demand for them continues strong.

U. S. Expenses Reduced

Washington, Nov. 4.—The Administration expects to effect an aggregate reduction in Government expenditures for the fiscal year of 1922 of $439,000,000, instead of its previous estimate reduction of $350,000,000, President Harding informed Congress through a letter to Speaker Gillett made public today.

On the basis of the latest estimates received from the various departments and establishments, the President said, the total of expenditures for the next fiscal year now stands at $3,940,000,000, a reduction of $94,000,000 from the estimate of $4,024,000,000 submitted to Congress on August 10.

The President's estimates were submitted in connection with the transmission of supplemental and deficiency estimates of appropriations amounting to nearly $188,000,000, which he said were taken into consideration in arriving at the expenditures total for next year.

Richmond—Federal and state prohibition officers declared today that Tuesday and Wednesday. there is a lull in the seizure of illicit distilleries due to the fact that the hunting season has brought with it a fear by moonshiners of being detected and their plants confiscated if their trade is plied in the woods where shooters roam in quest of game. Instead, partial illicit paraphernalia designed to make ardent spirits, such as worms and copper boilers, are found buried in freshly packed soil, and tin and copper, corn meal and other ingredients are now often discovered in barns.

MARSHAL FOCH LETTER

Is Hailed As "One of Our Old Boys" By Hospitable St. Louis

St. Louis, Nov. 4.—Hailed as one of our "old boys," officially honored by two universities, welcomed and feted by the citizens of St. Louis, Ferdinand Foch, Marshal of France, now the nation's guest, today was shown American hospitality as exemplified in the Middle West.

Sharing the honors was General Pershing, introduced to his fellow buddies of the American Legion simply as "Black Jack."

From early morning until late to night the city poured forth its hospitality to the two warriors in magnificent manner. Both expressed keen delight at the reception accorded them. The American warrior, deviating from his usual serious vein, indulged in numerous pleasantries as he addressed members of the American Legion in the City Hall.

Marshal Foch, called upon to address several throngs, expressed delight and appreciation of the honors bestowed upon him and the cordial welcome shown him. Visibly affected with the bestowal of the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon nim by the St. Louis University in an open quadrangle before the student body and members of other Catholic schools, the Marshal declared it difficult to express himself.

A few minutes previopsly, from the same platform, Archbishop John J. Glennon had resented him with a commemorative medallion on behalf of the fourth degree Knights of Columbus.

Twelve year old Elizabeth Fusz received a kiss on both cheeks from Marshal Foch when she presented him with a large bouquet on behalf

COL. ANDERSON RAPS STATE GOVERNMENT

Republican Nominee For Governor Addresses Citizens Here

HITS MANAGEMENT

Addresses Also Made By Joseph L. Crupper, State Chairman, and Col. Jennings E. Wise.

Declaring there are no political issues involved in this campaign, Col. Henry W. Anderson of Richmond, republican nominee for governor in the election which will be held next Tuesday, last night at a mass meeting held in the Opera House launched an attack on Virginia's alleged machine politics and severely arraigned the present form of government as administered by the demcorats.

The question at issue he said is "Are the business affairs of Virginia well managed?" Today, it takes $20,000,000 to run the state government, and he said the question is "Is the state government good or bad?" If it is good he urged that it be continued and if bad that a change be made. Col. Anderson then declared that the management of the state is very bad and asserted that he could prove it.

State Senator E. Lee Trinkle, democratic nominee for governor, he said in a speech was quoted as saying that he was amazed that the speaker should say that there is a political machine in Virginia, and he added if such is the case Senator Trinkle is the only person over three years old who does not know of its existence. For the past twenty years he said that Virgina has been dominated by an invisible government in Washington controlled by three or four men. For thirty-five he said the affairs of Virginia have been controlled by the democrats and if the republican party was in power that long conditions he said would be just as bad. Concerning the existence of a "machine," the speaker quoted a number of Virginians

Col. Anderson said that [illegible] months prior to Mr. Trinkle's nomination the latter said the conditions in Vrginia were very bad. Col. Trinkle he said since his nomination declares conditions are very good. Continuing the speaker said that the government of Virginia does not express the will of the people as they have never ratified the state constitution, it never being submitted to them for ratifcation. Col. Anderson criticized the election of judges and the selection of electoral boards and registrars. The prevailing system in Virginia he said disfranchised 600,000 white people, and this he said was due to the mandate of forty-seven men who framed the state constitutions.

According to Col. Anderson the republican party proposes to revise the constitution and submit it to the people for ratification or rejection. Under the prevailing system only one out of ten persons can vote he said.

The school system in Virginia he said is worse than the political system. The speaker then told how the system is alleged to be dominated by politics. He declared the results are bad, that Virginia has not a sufficient number of teachers and its school buildings are inadequate. The republicans if they got into power he said would do away with the board and elect school trustees by the people.

Virginia's highways he said stand at the bottom of the ladder. During the past five years the state highway commission spent twenty million dollars and $400,000 went for overhead and surveys before a pick was stuck in the ground he declared. Tax bills in Virginia he said have increased without results.

Discussing the race question he said that this simply is an insult to mind of any intelligent person. It simply is a scarecrow put out by agitators. There can he said be no mixing of the races, although he said he favored a square deal for the colored man. We should, Col. Anderson declared, redeem Virginia from the prevailing conditions, adding that in order to lead Virginia must be free.

Joseph L. Crupper, formerly of this city, now of Arlington county, state chairman of the party, was the first speaker. Mr. Crupper said the republicans are engaged in a campaign the like of which has never before been witnessed in the state. The issues he said are above party standpoint. The fight he said is for Virginia. Many of the prominent citizens now identified wth the republican party were named by the speaker and he said that unless all signs fail Col. Anderson will be elected governor next Tuesday.

Col. Jennings E. Wise, of Richmond, was the next speaker. The democrats he declared were unable to assail the platform on which Col. Anderson stands and unable to assail his personal integrity they seek to weave out the fabric of untruth. The speaker told of Col. Anderson's

JAMES E. ALEXANDER

The death of one of Alexandria's most highly respected citizens, James Edward Alexander, calls for more than passing notice. Mr. Alexander was born in Allegheny, Pa., and came to Alexandria in 1864. Over a half-century ago he married Mary Elizabeth Kell, of this city, who, with two daughters and a son, survives him. The deceased was in the employ of the Navy Department for something like fifty four years, retiring from service only last summer, as chief clerk in the Bureau of Navigation. He was held in the highest esteem by his associates in the Navigation Bureau, as also by the various Secretaries of the Navy under whom he served. His record in Alexandria has been distinguished by his service in many offices of trust and honor. He was a member of the Southern Methodist Church for fifty-five years and superintendent of its Sunday School for twenty-five years. He was treasurer of the Board of Missions for thirty years; a member of the Masonic Order for fifty-seven years; the oldest past master of Andrew Jackson Lodge, of which he had been secretary for forty years; a past Grand High Priest of the Royal Arch Chapter in Virginia; a past Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery; a member of Acca Temple, Mystic Shrine; a member of the Scottish Rite Bodies; of Alexandria Council, Royal Arcanum, of which he was also secretary for the past forty years.

We cannot refrain from adding the eloquent tribute paid him by one of the most respected of our fellow-citizens and a life-long friend of the deceased: "James E. Alexander was one of the most lovable men that ever lived. Thoroughly conscientious in the performance of his duties, and rigid in the scrutiny of his own conduct, he was yet of a most forgiving nature, and always ready to make allowance for weakness in others. The influence of his character and example extended far beyond the confines of this own state. His friends frequently sought and valued his advice. His mind was keenly analytical, and his criticisms while forceful and unbiased, were always helpful and constructive."

No man's life has been lived in vain which has won such golden opinions from his fellow-man, and the departure of James Edward Alexander from our midst has indeed left a gap that will not soon be filled.

TALES OF U. S. TOWNS

Boston leads all cities in fish consumption.

St. Louis covers 62 1-2 square miles, and has 657 miles of payed streets.

Pittsburgh, it is said, stands on ground once given in exchange for a violin.

St. Joseph, Mo., is the fourth city in wholesale dry goods, fifth in candy, and fifth in hardware—first per capita in each.

Duluth was named in honor of the French explorer Daniel Greyson du Lhut (literally Daniel Greyson, the gentleman of the lute), who visited the present site of the city in 1679.

St. Augustine, Fla., the oldest European settlement in the United States, was founded Aug. 28, 1565, by Don Pedro Mendendez de Aviles, dispatched by Philip II of Spain to drive out the French Protestant refugees who three years before had reached Albemarle Sound.

Chicago claims that in orchestras, opera organizations, schools, factories and shops, it leads all American and European competitors.

Washington has been the meeting place of congress since 1800. Prior to that congress had met at Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Lancaster York, Princeton, Annapolis and Trenton.

New York, analyzed, is not a big city, but a conglomeration of former villages, including Harlem, Inwood, Washington Heights, Mott Haven, Port Morris, Melrose, Fordham, Kingsbridge, Spuyten Duyvil, Riverdale, Tremont, Morrisania and West Farms

Why?

The water smiles as the sun's soft kiss
Falls warm upon her sparkling face;
The flower smiles as the drowsy bee
Tangles his feet in her skirts of lace;
The heavens smile, as a drifting cloud
Trails over meadow, wold, and sea;
All Nature smiles; but you, my lass,
Pray, why will wou not smile on me?

The Modern Version

The heights of great men reached and kept
To be sure, were grabbed in sudden flight.
They took a correspondence course,
And were all made presidents over night!

Little Miss Muffett,
Sat on a tuffet,
Smoking her fag
In a languid way.
A mug of hard cider
Reposed close beside her,
But a revenue cop
Chased Miss Muffett away.

WITH THE WISHING FAIRY by CORINNE

The Brownies Hear for the First Time About Stella's Cousin.

THE four End-of-the-earth Brownies were having a perfectly wonderful time swimming and diving in the Get-big-pool. It is larger than the Get-little-pool and the Brownies always choose it to bathe in.

Splash!

Kinkajou had slid down a long narrow leaf, which the Brownies were using as a "shoot-the-shoots."

It was Snookum's turn and he was sitting at the very top of the leaf. He held on to the edge of it but he really, truly, wasn't afraid! One minute more . . . one long breath and he surely would slide down! He had to anyhow: wasn't Pimzie climbing up the stalk of the leaf, so as to be the next to slide? It would never do to let Pimzie think he was the slightest bit afraid! Oh no! . . . for Pimzie was a merciless tease!

Splash!

Down went Snookums!

Stella, the Wishing Fairy, sat under the shade of some cat-tail plants and watched the fun.

She was just dying to go in, so when Snookums ran to her and begged her to join them, she tore off her rose leaf dress, in the twinkling of an eye, and wearing only her little honeysuckle under tights, she, too, sat on the shoot-the-shoots leaf and slid down!

Splash!

When Stella came up she wiped the water from her eyes, and she was laughing for joy.

"This is fun!" she cried. "I can imagine how my cousin must enjoy her life!"

"Your cousin?" cried Pimzie. "I never heard you speak of your cousin before! Who is she?"

"Tell us about her," Lorykins chimed in.

So they all grouped themselves around her on the rocks and waited to hear about the Wishing Fairy's cousin.

"To begin with," said Stella to the funny little expectant faces before her, "her name is 'Pearl.' That's because she was born in an Oyster shell . . . just like a pearl. Some day," she added, "I'll tell you about that. She is the Fairy at the End-of-the-Sea, just as I am the Fairy at the End-of-the-earth."

"Oh!" Pimzie breathlessly whispered.

"Go on!" Snookums cried.

"She is very beautiful," Stella continued, "for she is a Mermaid."

"What's that?" asked Pimzie.

"Half woman . . . half fish," Stella said. "She has the head, arms and body of a woman, but instead of legs she has a long, shimmering fish tail, you see," she explained. "Pearl lives deep, very deep down under the sea. She combs her long hair with the back bone of a little fish; the electric fish give her light, and she wears a star fish on her forehead—just as I wear this star on mine," and Stella touched the star in her hair.

"And who are her Brownies?" Pimzie asked.

"She has a Sword fish . . . for protection, also a Portuguese Man-o'-war, a horseshoe crab and the darlingest little green lobster."

"And what does she ride?" asked Kinkajou, who was also tremendously interested.

"A tiny sea horse."

"And where does she sleep?" the lazy Lorykins questioned, for sleep always interests him more than anything else in life.

"On a soft, comfortable sponge," Stella answered.

"And what is the End-of-the-sea like?"

"A gloriously beautiful sea garden," the Wishing Fairy answered, "that is surrounded by a coral reef and filled with plumey, waving water plants. Some day," she added, "I'll tell you all about my cousin, but lets swim now."

Splash!

And Stella had again slid down the shoot-the-shoots leaf!

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear husband and father, CLARENCE WALTER ALE, who departed this life one year ago today, November 4, 1920.

In my heart your memory lingers,
Sweetly, tender, fond and true,
There is not a day dear Clarence
That I do not think of you.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are all alone,
In our hearts there comes a longing
If our dear Daddy could come home

Home is sad, O Lord how dreary,
Lonesome, lonesome every spot,
Waiting for nis voice till weary,
Weary, for I hear it not.
I did not know the pain he bore,
I did not see him die,
I only knew he went away
And never said goodby.

By His Loving Wife and Children.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, CLARENCE WALTER ALE, who departed this life one year ago today, November 4, 1920.

Today recalls sad memories,
Of our loved boy gone to rest,
And those who think of him today,
Are those who loved him best.
And we remember his brief, bright years,
With aching hearts and falling tears.

Mother and Father.

CALOMEL USERS
TAKE AWFUL RISK
Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Terrible Salivation

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into sour bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat .Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate.

SPORTS

Virginia A. C. vs. Marines

At 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Shipyard Grounds, the Virginia A. C. will stack up against the Marine Corps eleven, in a game that will be full of pep and trick plays. The Marines have a fine team and have been practicing earnestly, but the Virginians have also been doing some hard practicing, and intend to cop this Sunday's game and every one hereafter. Due to the fact that the Emerald A. C., has disbanded for the season, the Virginians were without a game last Sunday, being unsuccessful in securing another team to take the place of the Emeralds.

While the Marines and the Virginians are fighting it out on the Shipyard Field, the Virginia A. C., second team, will be taking the measure of Washington's best Junior team, the Quintin A. C. in Congress Heights.

WESTERN CANCELS

A. H. S. And Leesburg To Lock Horns Tomorrow

About a month ago Western High of Washington, cancelled a game with Episcopal High the day before the game was to have been played, Again today Western cancelled the game which it had scheduled with Alexandria High for tomorrow much to the regret of the Alexandria boys. Western has arranged a game with the Junior Georgetown Preps at Garrick Park. This was the reason given for the cancellation of the A. H. S. Western game, but followers of football have reached a conclusion of their own. Western is runner-up in the D. C. championship series and does not want to risk defeat from this side of the Potomac is the decision given by those who claim to know.

After trying to get a game from Central, Bliss Electrical, Maryland, State Freshmen, Army and Navy Preps, Charlotte Hall Military Academy, Randolph-Macon Academy and Leesburg, the management of the A. H. S., team has arranged to play Leesburg High team on Baggett's field tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

Leesburg promises to make the Alexandrians fight for every inch. Several weeks ago Leesburg defeated the George Mason High School team a half dozen and more touchdowns. A great game is promised and the High School boys wish Western luck.

Golf Finals Played At Rolling Road Club

Baltimore, Md.,—The final round of the two-ball mixed foursome of the Rolling Road Golf Club was won Saturday morning by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander P. Brookes, who defeated Miss Evelyn Randall and Lester W. McCrea, 4 up and 3 to go. The tourney started Friday with more than 50 couples participating.

The participants in the finals teed off at 10.30 o'clock Saturday morning and, although the weather was threatening, a large gallery followed the players around the course. From the start of the play the winners took the lead and were never headed by their opponents. They played unbeatable golf on the first four holes, making them in 5, 5, 4, 3.

Mrs. Brookes played very consistent golf all of the way around, and Mr. Brookes made some spectacular shots, particularly one at the second hole.

The losers were only able to win four holes, these being the sixth, eighth, thirteenth and fourteenth.

The entire tourney was a decided success from the beginning, although it was the first of its kind held by the club. Close matches featured the play, and the winners showed their mettle by defeating their opponents handily.

FASHION FOLLIES ALWAYS FOLLOW WAR—WRITER

New York, Nov. 4.—Daring fashions have always followed wars, says a writer in the September Mentor Magazine. All through history women have adopted scanty and seductive clothing to render themselves more potent in the competition for male attention in countries where the man power has been depleted.

When a long war had drained the strength of ancient Athens, the Government itself required women to wear a tunic designed to heighten their charms. After the Reign of Terror in France fashionable women wore such scanty clothes that they were finally hooted from the streets

SAW HER THREE TIMES LOVED HER ALL HIS LIFE

New York, Nov. 4.—Dante, the Italian poet, is the world's greatest lover, says Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis in the September Mentor Magazine

Commemorating the six hundredth anniversary of the poet's death, Dr. Hillis tells the story of Dante's great passion for Beatrice, the daughter of a neighbor merchant. Althoough he saw the object of his affections but three times in his life, she was the greatest influence that molded his life and work.

FOOD FACTS

The food value of one pound of cheese exceeds that of a pound and a quarter of beefsteak.

Milk, the only complete food, contains all the food elements the body requires and in their proper proportions.

Granulated sugar has only a little more nourishment per pound than honey or molasses.

Protein and fat are combined in nuts much the same as in meat, which makes nuts an excellent meat substitute.

With its byproducts, milk comprises about one sixth of the food consumed by the average family.

Agricultural scientists maintain that there is more food value in one acre of beets than in four acres of wheat.

Experiments have demonstrated that an average adult may require from 1,500 to 6,000 calories of food a day, 2,500 being required by an average sized healthy person at rest in bed, while 6,000 were required by men doing the hardest and most strenuous manual labor in the open air.

Who'll Be the Next One to Cry Over You — Ernest Hare
No. 14237 — 10-inch — $.85

Aileen Stanley, that just-a-little-different song-comedienne, certainly sings "Cry Baby Blues" in a winning manner. "Who'll Be the Next One to Cry Over You" is one of Ernest Hare's best. A sentimental number set to a frivolous tune.

Friends of Norfolk Woman Are Surprised at Big Change Since Taking Tanlac

Mrs. W. B. Canada, 133 West High St., Norfolk, Va., gives an interesting account of her remarkable restoration to health by taking Tanlac. She says:

"I, for one, am convinced that the stomach has more to do with governing the health of the body than anything else. My whole system seemed to go wrong after I began to have stomach trouble. I tried living on milk and toast and that disagreed with me and then I tried milk and eggs and had been doing so for several months before I began taking Tanlac.

"I now eat anything I want and am really in wonderful health. No wonder my friends are surprised when they see me now, because I look what I feel, just like a different person."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Warfield, Jr., and by leading druggists everywhere.

The Vogue of Informal Decoration Aids the Bride.

A good housekeeper takes pride in the appurtenances of her dining table. Particularly enthusiastic on the subject is the bride. It is such fun to entertain her friends in her new home, and in the innocence of her heart she cannot help showing off a little.

Her reputation as a housekeeper is at stake, and equally as important as the dinner itself is the way it is set before the guests.

So if you are a bride, take heart, for the task of dressing your dining table is a much easier one to-day than it was in your mother's time. The formality of that former age has vanished and where once "snowy white, crystal and silver" were considered the only correct things, color has invaded their realm, and the meal hour has been made a most cheerful one in consequence.

Take for instance the table the artist has shown you to-day. Although most colorful in its fittings it has an abundance of dignity and is appropriate for formal as well as informal occasions.

The table is painted a gray green and two runners of linen with punch work embroidery are crossed at the centre of it. The china shown is white, but it is different from most white china as the cups boast handles in the shape and color of pink rosebuds. The plates are of solid pink and the fruit dish is of white wedgewood, in which bright fruit contributes its part in the decorative scheme.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE STREET
By The Man About Town

Modern engineers have doubled the efficiency of industrial plants in many instances simply by equalizing the distribution of labor. The Post Office Department is applying this principle in its attempt to systematically reduce the burden placed on its employees by a careless public.

Postmaster W. Morgan Smith is actively engaged in a campaign to have all houses in the city properly numbered and fitted with receptacles wherein the mail may be deposited by the carrier. A loss of approximately two minutes occurs every time the carrier is forced to make a personal delivery at your door. It is an unnecessary waste, and prompt compliance with the postmaster's request will speed up the service. Thomas A. Fisher, formerly mayor of Alexandria, has the honor of being the first person in town to give his active support to the movement. Immediately upon receipt of Mr. Smith's communication Mr. Fisher provided a receptacle for the deposit of his mail and 'phoned the postmaster that he had done so.

The collection of mail begins at 6.30 every morning. This collection is usually very light. While making their morning and afternoon deliveries the carriers again collect, winding up their day with the evening collection which is the heavy one, at about 8.30 This throws the peak load on the employees during the early evening and in many cases it is found impossible to get the late collections out on the night trains. Mr. Smith suggests that every business man should have his mail deposited for collection at the earliest possible moment after it is written. It is customary in many offices to hold up the accumulated correspondence of the day until closing time in the afternoon when it is deposited in a bundle. This is the WRONG system because it adds to the load at the very time when facilities for handling the mail are overtaxed.

"If every business man in town would clean up his desk before going out to lunch," said Mr. Smith, "and then take the trouble to see that his correspondence gets into the mails promptly, our burdens would be appreciably lightened."

"There are more ways to make a dollar than there are minutes in the day," volunteered Mr. Close Observer as we stood waiting for the car, "and that fellow over there has hit on a pretty good scheme."

"That fellow over there," seemed to be doing a very good business. On a reconstructed flivver he had built a little booth which housed a complete grinding equipment. Snugly planted within his nest he was rapidly sharpening an accumulation of shears, knives, cleavers and miscellaneous cutlery.

A long cry from the itinerant scissor-sharpener of our childhood who carried his stand on his broad back and jangled a bell to herald his approach. The world does move.

A well known educator once asserted that the phonograph had done more to further civilization in the out-of-way corners of the earth than the rifle. Perhaps he was right, but right or wrong it may be truthfully said that the sun never sets on the talking machine. It has penetrated the heart of the jungle, the tops of the Andean peaks, the ice guarded fastnesses of the far north, and its voice is heard on the seven seas. In cow-camp, mining town, fishing village or farming community the strains of the latest musical offerings mingle with the laughter of little children on wintry evenings. In the cities and towns it has a multitude of admirers, yea even on Broadway, where musical comedy was born.

Having such a wide appeal it follows that a large percentage of Gazette readers are interested in talking machine records. Hoping to discover just what class of music meets with popular approval here in Alexandria we took it upon ourselves to interview the various dealers handling that commodity and get a line upon the best sellers of the different makes.

The Pathe product is handled by Mr. Michelbach and he states that the three following records are most in demand just at this time. "Where the Lazy Mississippi Flows," a violin solo played by Ray Eleanor Ball; "All by Myself," a vocal gem from Zeigfeld's Follies, and "Say it With Music," a dashing fox-trot.

At Castleberg's where Vocalion records are featured the call is for "Elsa's Dream," from Lohengrin, sung by Marie Sundelius; "To a Wild Rose," a violin solo by Marie Dawson Morrell, and "Ma," a jazzy fox-trot.

Further down the street we found the Columbia representative at Rubens' who furnished the following list of best sellers. "Tuck me to Sleep" a vocal offering; and another fox-trotting melody entitled, "I Ain't Nobody's Darling."

The dog which made the Victor famous showed its nose at J. M. Reed's and the young lady in charge informed us that Alexandrians were strong for these selections. "Little Town in the Ould Country," sung by John McCormick, "Tuck me to Sleep," and "I Ain't Nobody's Darling."

Edison re-creations are handled at the Music Shop and the favorites in that line are: "All by Myself," sung by Helen Clark: "Just Because," a fox trot; and "Sleepy Head," a waltz lullaby.

Popular jazz records used for dancing by the younger set have the call when it comes to sales in all the stores. There is a steady and regular demand for classical music, however, and the high grade records are stocked. Musical education in the schools would doubtless do much to increase the demand for the best grade of instrumental and vocal music for, like eating olives, the taste must be cultivated.

In our interview with Dr. Foulks, City Health Officer, we quoted that gentleman as saying that "typhoid is practically non-existent. The statement should have read: "Typhoid has been greatly reduced. Small-pox is practically non-existent, as we have not had a single case since May, 1920. Dr. Foulks informs us that there have been nine cases of typhoid fever during the month of October.

of the International Federation of Catholic Alumni.

At the St. Louis University the Marshal was hailed as one of our "old boys" by Rev. M. J. O'Connor, rector, speaking as a Jesuit teacher to a former student of a Jesuit institution, in conferring the honorary degree of the university.

In the afternoon Marshal Foch appeared before an assemblage of French societies. A banquet last night by the Chamber of Commerce concluded St. Louis' welcome. Tomorrow the Marshal will be the guest of Indianapolis.

One of the features of the day was a review of the Sixth Infantry just completing a 900-mile hike from Camp Jackson South Carolina, to Jefferson Barracks, Missouri.

It was not until almost noon that the vast majority of St. Louis' citizens had opportunity to see the distinguished guests. The breakfast at the St. Louis Club, functions at St. Louis University and Washington University and the visit to the Statue of St. Louis had kept the party out of the business sections. However, along the entire route there were large assemblages of people, including school children. It was a holiday in the schools.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Toxins (Poisons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Told to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Marshroot is not recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water night and day ,with smarting or irritation, brick dust sediment or highly colored urine, bloating irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, for kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription if you have any of the above symptoms, Kidney and Bladder troubles don't wear away. They will grow upon you slowly, stealthily and with unfailing certainty.

Never mind the failures of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to Kidney Disease, don't lose a single day for—every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benet.

BEFORE HEALTH BREAKS DOWN

Wise People Take Pepto-Mangan, the Blood Builder

The prevention of sickness is one of the greatest works of the public health authorities. People are being taught how to take care of their bodies so that they can avoid sickness. In schools children are being taught hygiene. Serious illness can be avoided by proper care of the health. Pale faces, sickly bodies, loss of appetite and sleep, headaches and nervousness are usually signs of weak blood. With poor blood, the body has no resistance.

Disease germs have an easy time of it. People are learning the necessity of keeping blood in good condition. They take Gude's Pepto-Mangan when they feel run down. That keeps blood normal so that it can resist disease. It is sold in both liquid and tablet form at drug stores. Advertisement.

Major General Lansing H. Beach, Chief of the Corps of Engineers, visited Camp Humphreys officially on Saturday, October 29th. He reviewed the troops that are to take part in the Armistice Day ceremonies at Washington and Arlington on November 11th. These troops consist of two companies of picked men from both the 13th Engineers and the Engineer School Detachment; about one hundred and eighty men. There is a competition between the two companies as to which shall make the best showing before Armistice Day, as the best company will be given the place of honor by going to Washington while the other will take part in the Arlington ceremonies.

Mrs. William H. Waugh gave a card party at her house on the afternoon of Monday, October 24th in honor of Mrs. James A. Woodruff, and Mrs. John B. Huggins.

One of the prettiest social affairs of the season was the bridge party given in honor of Colonel and Mrs. James A. Woodruff, the new commander and his wife, by Captain and Mrs. Patrick Kelly. The hostess presented Mrs. Woodruff with a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Colonel and Mrs. James A. Woodruff gave a dinner on Friday evening, October 28th to twelve of the newly arrived officers and ladies. Colonel and Mrs. Woodruff attended the meeting of the Loyal Legion in W ashington Wednesday evening, November 2nd.

WALTER REED HOSPITAL

Washington D. C.
(Courtesy of Alexandria Chapter, American Red Cross)

Nary a visitor in the ward this week
Aw, they're tired of us now!
When we was well and whole
And they needed us to go across
To stop the U-boat on our shores
And chase the Hun across the Rhine
Then every last blamed chump among us
Was a "hero" and they couldn't do enough.
Now—
Well, the war is over, so they say
(It looks to me like it wasn't finished yet),
And they're sick of all
The whole danged business.
So are we!
We're sick of this 'ere hospital,
We're sick of this 'ere grub,
We never want to see another doctor or a nurse,
And they never want to see another wounded cuss.
I don't blame 'em, but—
Here we are!
This buddy next me here he hasn't got
Much left to decorate his carcass,
And he's blind, too; the boche
Shot out one eye for sure;
The doctors thought they'd save the other one,
But yesterday they took the bandage off
And he couldn't see a goldarned thing.
He's a 'sport.' He never said a word,
But I could see his lips a-shakin',
My, ain't it hot!
And these danged flies are such a nuisance.
I wisht that I could hike out to a shady place
And "cool my fevered brow," as they say
In high-toned stuff,
But I can't, you see, until
They hitch sumpin goin' on to
These two pretty stumps of mine.

Why should you belong to the American Red Cross?

Because it is helping the nation's disabled service men.

"Willie, where did you get that black eye?"

"Johnny Smith hit me."

"I hope you remember what your Sunday School teacher said about heaping coals on the head of your enemies."

"Well, ma, I didn't have any coal, so I just stuck his head in the ash-barrel."—Boston Transcript.

Lawyer—"And what was the defendant doing meanwhile?"

Witness—"He was telling me a funny story."

Lawyer—"Remember, sir, that you are under oath."

Witness—"Well, anyway, he was telling me a story."—Pearson's Weekly.

THE SUN

The sun (Standard dictionary definition) is the star which warms, governs and illuminates the earth and other bodies forming the Solar System.

The sun's diameter is estimated at 864,000 miles.

The light of the sun exerts a pressure of 70,000 tons on the earth.

The sun is distant from the earth 91,000,000 miles in June and 91,500,000 in December.

The sun, if it were a hollow sphere, would hold a million globes as large as the earth.

Although 400 times larger than the moon, the sun is 400 times farther away from the earth, making the two appear about the same size.

A mountain on the sun, if it bore the same proportion to that luminary as Mount Everest does to the earth, would be 600 miles high.

While the sun is always in an easterly direction, it is not exactly east of the observer at that time except twice in the year—at the time of the equinox.

An eclipse of the sun on October 1 will be visible as total in the Antarctic Ocean, the path of totality stretching from Cape Horn to the South Pole, but missing both these points by narrow margins. It will be partially visible in Argentina, Peru and Chile.

STATES' STARS IN THE FLAG

(The definite location of each star in the flag of the United States and the state for which it stands, is fixed by law.)

The first classification was made Dec. 7, 1787, and the final classification was made Feb. 12, 1912.

The stars are arranged from left to right, beginning at the top of the blue field and the states are designated in the order of their ratification of the constitution or admission to the Union.

Following is the official classification:

First row—Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Georgia, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Maryland, South Carolina.

Second row—New Hampshire, Virginia, New York, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Vermont, Kentucky, Tennessee.

Third row—Ohio, Louisiana, Indiana, Mississippi, Illinois, Alabama, Maine, Missouri.

Fourth row—Arkansas, Michigan, Florida, Texas, Iowa, Wisconsin, California, Minnesota.

Fifth row—Oregon, Kansas, West Virginia, Nevada, Nebraska, Colorado, North Dakota, South Dakota.

No Fuel Shortage When You Use Electricity

Nearly every winter there's a fuel shortage of some kind. Housewives are beginning to believe that no fuel can be absolutely depended on for cooking purposes.

But electric current is always sure and every home wired for electricity should have some sort of stove if only for emergencies.

A small electric hotplate, costing only $9.00, would at least provide a hot dish for every meal, while an electric grill or table stove will cook an entire meal using no more current than an ordinary toaster.

Relation of the Electric Railway Industry to Ineustrial Etficiency

Address Before Electric Railway Engineers

One of the outstanding results of the present unemployment conference has been to impress on everyone the unlimited interdependency of our various industries. Not that the general fact was unknown, or unexpected, but the conference has brought the fact forward with start ling distinctness.

Your industry is no exception to this, but on the contrary is probably one of the most conspicuous examples. It would appear that the only thing which kept you going, as an industry, during some of the past years has been the very necessity of your service in order that the rest of the community could progress and function industrially and socially.

When I speak of "your industry" I mean and visualize the urban and interurban trnsportation businesss. For I assume at the outset that, except for your natural desire to protect your reasonable investment in railways as such, you recognize your responsibility to furnish to community the transportation which is necessary for its development and success irrespective of what physical agency you may deem best to utilize for the purpose.

But, even with the necessity of your service recognized, you are, I understand, in a critical condition though in a way which differs from the condition of other industries in many respects.

The condition of your industry is indeed critical in many respects. The whole condition has arisen, at least in part, it seems to me, from a lack of appreciation both on the part of the general public and your own part, of the basic interdependence of your industry and the rest of the industries

Some of the data which bear upon this are astonishing and conclusive of the point.

You employ some 300,000 men in normal times.

You burn annually over 16,000,000,- tons of coal.

You have a gross income, estimated for 1920, of some $955,000,000 of which approximately 6 per cent, or nearly $60,000,000 is repaid to the communities in taxes, not to mention the paving maintenance which most of you carry.

You pay out over $300,000,000 in wages, which is used principally for purchasing commodities and the products of other industries.

You buy directly supply material which costs another $300,000,000.

You buy, in normal times, another $200,000,000 worth for extensions, replacements, etc.

You transport, each year, from 12,000,000,000 to 15,000,000,000 passengers twelve times as many as the steam railroads.

The very marshalling of this data indicates the close relation your industry has to other industries, and its importance to the nation.

Theer is another element to your service too which not be overlooked, and that is the housing situation—the adequate planning of community life. As you who have developed the industry realize, the only factor which makes possible a healthy expansion of housing facilites beyond the confines of congested city districts is that adequate transportation be available.

I mention all these facts, most of them of every day knowledge, to you for the purpose of emphasizing the close intetrdependence of your industry and the industrial life of the community.

The public, on its part, not only must recognize your service in relation to other industries and businesses, but must recognize you as an industry and a business subject to the impact of economic laws that dominate the other industries and businesses.

To be sure, the classification of your business as a public utility has entailed regulation of rates designed to take the place of competition which is in the main absent, and intelligent regulation realizes the necessity of proper return on actual capital invested if these services are to be extended and maintained.

Thre can be no question that in the face of rising prices, wages, with at the same time a regulated income, both industry and service have suffered greatly during the past six years, falling prices and wages will inherently improve this situation.

Beyond this, however, there is needed a better understanding of the inter-relation of these factors with each other and of your importance to the community and to industry and employment as a whole, if we are to recover economic stability, and if these services are to develop.

I know of only one way to a full understanding of these matters—ceaseless public education on the elemental facts.

NOVEMBER

Many friends and love affairs are credited to those who are born in November if they but diligently observe the power of their birthstone.

The TOPAZ

They were among the gems that Herod offered Salome would she but release him from his oath—involving finally the head of St. John.

LAUGHS

General Wood's suggestion that the Filipinos be taught law and order ought not to be limited to the Filipinos.—Syracuse Herald.

Blackstone—"What made the jury disagree in that prohibition case?"

Webster—"There wasn't enough evidence to go round, so all except the first four jurors voted for a reasonable doubt."—The American Legion Weekly.

"How's this?" asked the lawyer. "You've named six bankers in your will to be pallbearers. Of course, it's all right, but wouldn't you rather choose some friends with whom you are on better terms?"

"No, Judge," that all right. Those fellows have carried me for so long they might as well finish the job."—The American Legion Weekly.

"You must have made a few enemies in your long political career?"

"More than a few," answered Senator Sorghum. "I have forgiven them all."

"That is magnanimous."

"Not especially. By forgiving them I call their attention to the fact that they never succeeded in injuring me enough to earn my abiding resentment."—Washington Star.

When the woman motorist was called upon to stop, she asked, indignantly, "What do you want with me?"

"You were traveling at forty miles an hour," answered the police officer.

"Forty miles an hour? Why, I haven't been out an hour," said the woman.

"Go ahead," said the officer. "That's a new one to me,"—Exchange.

Some of our story writers are running riot with their similes. Here are a few we gathered in our late reading:

"Her lips quivered like a light auto."

"He edged nearer to her until he was almost as close as the air in the subway."

"But his mind, like her face, was made up."

"Her hair dropped on her pallid cheek like seaweed on a clam."

"He gazed anxiously at her face, the way a person in a taxi gazes at the face of the meter."—Boston Transcript.

A new foreman took charge of the shop this particular morning, and many of the men had not as yet met him. About the middle of the forenoon he was making a tour of the buildings to familiarize himself with the layout, when on passing a small enclosure he saw two workmen inside who were sitting down smoking. Before he had the opportunity to speak one of the men said: "Hello, what are you doing, stranger?"

"I'm Dodgen, the new foreman," was the reply.

"So are we, come in and have a smoke." —Forbes Magazine (N. Y.)

Beware of these foot troubles!
Bunions, callouses and corns, flat foot, turning ankles, cramped or overlapped toes—all these endanger your whole physical condition

(1) Bunions and corns make normal walking and standing impossible and, if neglected, contribute much toward the wear and tear on one's whole physical make-up

(2) Flat foot can make weaklings of even the strongest men and women

(3) Weak, turning ankles, an indication of weak arch, weaken the whole movement of the legs and body

(4) Overlapped or cramped toes strain the muscles from toe to thigh and noticeably affect the nervous system

WOMEN IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Sarah Bernhardt, world's greatest actress, at seventy, with a wooden leg, is impersonating a youth of twenty.

Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, now in Great Britain, is described in the British press as "America's greatest woman."

Mrs. Lucinda M. Bacon, of New York, who has been abroad, was named as the best dressed woman in Paris, and Dover, England

Mrs. Samuel R. McKelvie, wife of teh governor of Nebraska, has received notoriety because of her statement that she does her own house work in a twnty one room house.

Miss Gertrude Artelt of Philadelphia, nineteen years old, has been proclaimed to possess the "most perfect figure," and to be the best type of athletic girl in the United States

Julia Marlowe, who recently received the degree of LL. D., from George Washington University, is said to be the first actress to be thus honored by a university in the United States.

Miss Margaret Gorman, of Washington, representing that city as "Miss Washington" in the fall pageant, was awarded the first prize at Atlantic City in the intercity beauty contest. She was also voted by the judges the most attractive of the bathing girls.

Alice Robertson, congresswoman from the Second Oklahoma district, was at one time postmistress at Muskogee, a town of upwards of 50,000. During the world war Miss Robertson, who, at the time conducted a restaurant, saw to it that every soldier who passed through Muskogee had an ample supply of lunch and she gained universal popularity as "Miss Alice, the Muskogee Angel."

The Missouri Press Association has chosen two women, Miss Annie E Nolen of Monroe and Miss Caddie Albrittan of Jefferson City, as its delegates to the World Press Congress, to be held in Honolulu this month.

THE TURKS

The Turks were the first to use cigarets.

The law permits a Turk to have four wives.

The Turks know nothing of the Turkish bath.

The Turks adopted the crescent as a national emblem about 1453.

The Turks, while the most temperate people, are the most barbarous.

In Turkey bachelors are barred from holding positions in the civil service.

The Turks, as a general rule, wear yellow slippers, the Armenians red, and the Jews blue.

The Turks were the first people to bury their dead in cemeteries and make use of ornamental head stones.

Hospitality is a striking characteristic of the Turks, No one needing shelter and lodging is ever turned away.

The fez is no longer to be the national headdress of the Turk, according to a decision of the national assembly. The "kalpak" will be substituted. The "kalpak" is made of black cloth or felting, and is some what similar to the fez, only flatter and broader.

The fancy shop proprietor had ransacked his shop in an endeavor to please the rather exacting woman who wanted to purchase a present.

"Now, are you sure this is genuine crocodile skin," she inquired, critically examining a neat little satchel.

"Quite, madam," was the reply. "You see, I shot the crocodile myself."

"It looks rather dirty," remarked the customer, hoping to get a reduction in terms.

"Yes, madam," replied the shopkeeper, "that is where the animal struck the ground after it fell off the tree."—London Telegraph.

Much Suffering Caused by Waste Products in the Blood

What Science Knows About the Matter and How It Is Best Treated.

The blood is more important than any of the organs. It is thru the blood that the whole human body is directly or indirectly nourished. The blood gets its nourishment from the intestines. The intestines also contain waste products — undigested foods, acids, gases and refuse, which sometimes get in the blood.

When waste products get in the blood, nature will strive to cast them out. If your resistance is strong enough, nature will probably succeed. But if you are "below par," weak, run-down, and nervous, nature will begin to show signs of distress.

As a result, you will have that feeling of fatigue. You will lack the energy you need for the day's duties and pleasure. Minor ailments will begin to affect you—pimples, blackheads, and boils.

If the waste products are not gotten out of the blood at this point, it is possible a more serious skin eruption or disease will begin to show itself. It is not infrequent for waste products to settle in the muscles and joints and cause rheumatism.

Listen to nature's warning. Your blood is your fountain source of energy—therefore keep your blood rich and pure.

For over 50 years, thousands and thousands of men and women have relied on S. S. S. to clear their blood of waste products. S. S. S. will improve the quality of your blood by relieving you of the waste products which cause impoverished blood and its allied troubles — skin disorders, rheumatism and a lowered vitality.

Get S. S. S. at your druggist. Beware of substitutes. Write Chief Medical Director, Swift Specific Co., D-720 S. S. S. Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga. for special medical advice (without charge). He is helping people every day to regain their health and strength. Ask him to send you his illustrated booklet, "Facts About the Blood"—free. S. S. S. is sold by all drug stores.

After Mr. Brown had raked his yard he took the accumulated rubbish into the street to burn. A number of neighbors' children came flocking about the bonfire among them a little girl whom Mr. Brown did not remember having seen before. Wishing, with his usual kindliness, to make the stranger feel at ease, he beamed upon her and said, heartily:

"Hello! Isn't this a new face?"

A deep red suffused her freckles, "No," she stammered, "it ain't new. It's just been washed."—Harper's Magazine.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

She was black, forty and fat. So fat that she must have tipped the beam at four hundred. He was chocolate-colored, bandy-legged and broad. Her words rang out sharp and clear on the evening air in a wailing protest.

And she bore off up town looking like a waddling mastodon of prehistoric days while Rufus Rastus Brown took a nice quiet sneak down a dark street.
